TEEN HOMESCHOOLING SUMMIT 2025

Welcome to the Teen Homeschooling Summit!

I'm so glad you're here.

This summit was born out of countless conversations with parents who were navigating those early years of homeschooling with confidence—then suddenly hit a wall when TEEN years rolled around. The questions got bigger and the old strategies just didn't quite fit anymore.

Again and again, I heard:

"I just need some support for THIS stage."

So—here we are.

Over the next few days, you'll hear from people who've walked this path—parents, teens, and mentors who get it. You'll find practical tools, flexible pathways, and thoughtful, real-world strategies for homeschooling teens in a way that honours who they are and who they're becoming.

This isn't about doing more or doing it "right."

It's about making space—space for conversation, curiosity, connection, and growth.

Whether you're just starting out, shifting gears, or somewhere in the messy middle, I hope this summit helps you breathe a little deeper, trust yourself a little more, and feel a whole lot less alone.

A huge thank you to our generous and thoughtful presenters—every single one has poured time, energy, and care into their workshops to make this a truly valuable experience for you. I'm so grateful for the wisdom they've shared and their willingness to show up so openly for this community.

And to our sponsor—thank you for backing this event and helping make it possible.

Putting this summit together has been such a labour of love—and, like most homeschool projects, it's been shaped around real life. Kids needing snacks, life admin piling up, late-night emails, and that tiny voice asking "Are you done on your laptop yet?" It's all part of it.

Huge thanks to my family, who've rolled with the late dinners and the 'just five more minutes' more times than I can count. And to you—yes you—for showing up. For your teen, and for yourself.

Let's do this together.

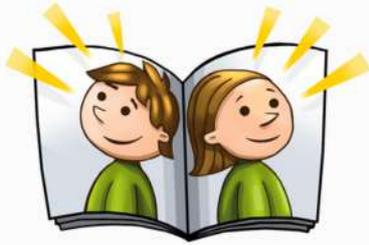

Micarlé Callea

(Your summit host, snack supplier, and fellow "figuring-it-out-er")

RECORDED WORKSHOP

IT'S THEIR LIFE, NOT A LESSON PLAN!

READY TO WATCH NOW!

Rebecca English

Jo Lloyd

Sheena Harris

Krystel Watts

Ever wondered how much your teen could learn away from books?

Turns out – a lot. Whether they're hiking for the Duke of Edinburgh Award, performing on stage, volunteering in their community, leading a project, or simply figuring out who they are – these are the moments where teens truly grow. Not just in knowledge, but in confidence, resilience, and purpose. Because learning doesn't end when the books close – often, that's when it really begins.

In this workshop, join our panel of homeschooling parents as we explore what it means to let go of the school mindset and create a home where teens can grow into who they are – not just who the system expects them to be.

You'll hear real stories, get practical ideas, and discover how volunteering, creativity, service, and self-direction can shape a rich and fulfilling teen experience. This is about raising whole humans – curious, grounded, and ready for life – not just students who tick all the boxes.

WHAT DO WE KNOW ABOUT THE OUTCOMES OF HOMESCHOOLING?

READY TO WATCH NOW!

Rebecca English

Are you worried you aren't enough? Are you fearful about what might happen at the end of the homeschooling time?

This presentation will discuss what the research says about homeschooling's outcomes. It will talk about the research from overseas, and Australia.

It will consider the academic, social, emotional outcomes as well as the satisfaction of homeschoolers with their education.

HELP! MY CHILD'S NOW A TEENAGER AND I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO! (MAKING THE TRANSITION FROM TEACHER TO COACH)

LIVE MONDAY JUNE 9

Aimée Engler

Did you wake up one day and wonder what happened to your child?
You know, the one that used to just go along with your plans and wasn't so opinionated?

Whose reactions were predictable but now emotional over nothing?
The transition into teenage - hood can be a shock, but the question is, have you transitioned with them?

If you have a newly-minted teenager but no idea what you're doing, or want to be prepared for what's around the corner, then this workshop will give you the confidence you need by:

- explaining what your teen has transitioned from and is transitioning towards;
- encouraging you to make your own transformation from their teacher to their coach; and
- empowering you with tips and practical strategies.

THE 360 DEGREE FEEDBACK PERSPECTIVE - A POWERFUL PROCESS FOR OUR TEENS TO LEARN AND USE IN LIFE

MY TIME
10:00 AM AEST
TUESDAY 10 JUNE

Micarlé Callea

Want to equip your teen with a skill used by top leaders and teams worldwide? 360 Degree Feedback is more than a workplace tool—it's a mindset that teaches teens how to give and receive feedback with clarity, encouragement, insight, and respectful honesty. In this workshop, we'll explore how this process helps teens build self-awareness, grow from both praise and constructive input, and better understand how others experience them—skills essential for personal development, healthy relationships, and future career success. Whether your teen is exploring career options or building confidence in their current passions, this feedback model offers powerful insights. You'll also learn how to model it at home to support reflection, resilience, and meaningful two-way conversations.

Are you dreading TEENage years?

The years when our children change from boy to man, girl to woman, are both exciting and challenging times. As parents we wonder if we're doing enough to prepare them for adulthood - teach them life skills; navigate relationship turmoils; ensure they succeed with their studies; find the right career; make their bed... In this workshop I'll offer tips on how we can do all these things (and more!), while staying connected and enjoying our teens.

TEEN BRAIN TALK: UNDERSTANDING THE CHAOS, HARNESSING THE POWER

11:00 AM AEST
WEDNESDAY 11 JUNE

MY TIME

Micarle Callea & Billy Rogers

Ever felt like your emotions are all over the place? Like one minute you're chill and the next you're ready to scream—or cry—or both?

That's not you being "too much." That's your brain doing exactly what it's wired to do right now.

In this session, we'll break down what's really going on inside your head:

- Why your brain reacts before you can think (and how to deal with it) ,
- What "flipping your lid" actually means (yes, it's a real thing)
- Why you're drawn to risk, adventure, and big feelings
- How your brain is pruning, rewiring, and getting stronger
- This isn't a boring science class—it's real talk about the brain stuff no one tells you, but you totally deserve to know.

★ Come get the inside scoop on you—and walk away feeling more in control, not less.

IT'S NOT ALL UP TO THEM: RETHINKING INDEPENDENCE FOR HOMESCHOOLED TEENS

2:00 PM AEST
WEDNESDAY 11 JUNE

MY TIME

Patricia Fitzgerald

Homeschooling high schoolers doesn't have to mean handing over the reins completely. While independence matters, not every teen learns best when left to go it alone. In this workshop, we'll explore how to support teens who still need structure, conversation, and collaboration to succeed.

From one-on-one mentoring to shared projects, co-ops, and online classes, you'll discover a wealth of options that blend flexibility with support. We'll talk through how to recognise your teen's learning needs, strike the right balance between autonomy and connection, and design a homeschool high school experience that's both engaging and sustainable. Whether your teen thrives in community or simply needs more scaffolding, you'll leave with practical tools and renewed confidence.

MY TIME

Luke D'Astoli

In this practical and encouraging workshop, we'll explore how maths is far more than just numbers on a page – it's a gateway to career options, higher education, and powerful life skills like critical thinking, resilience, and decision-making. You'll gain clarity on the role maths plays in shaping your teen's future and how to talk about it in a way that motivates, not overwhelms.

In this workshop, we'll explore:

- How maths opens doors to careers, uni, and everyday problem-solving
- How to motivate teens (even the reluctant ones)
- Why your language and mindset about maths influence your teen's confidence
- Strategies from Maths Pathway and cognitive load theory that actually work
- How to build deep understanding through mastery and rich tasks like 1-2 Nim
- Walk away with practical tools, encouragement, and a clearer path forward. See you there!

UNDERSTANDING PEOPLE, PLACES, AND POWER: WHY SOCIAL STUDIES MATTERS

2:00 PM AEST
THURSDAY 12 JUNE

MY TIME

Erin Parkinson

Social studies is about so much more than names, dates, and memorising capitals – it's about helping teens make sense of the world they live in and see beyond their own little world. It gives them a way to explore how history, geography, politics, culture, economics, human rights, and belief systems shape people's lives and still affect communities today. In this workshop, we'll chat about why social studies really matters in the high school years - especially in developing critical thinking and empathy. We'll share some great topic ideas for teens, and look at how integrating it with English can make learning even more powerful and engaging.

REAL TALK: HOW TO BE SMART WITH MONEY (WITHOUT BEING BORING)

10:00 AM AEST
FRIDAY 13 JUNE

MY TIME

Gabi Billing

This isn't a school lesson. It's the chat I wish someone had with me when I was your age. If you've ever wanted more freedom, more choices, or just fewer times you have to ask your parents for stuff - this one's for you.

We'll talk about how money actually works (without being boring), how to make your money grow (even if you've only got 5 bucks), and how to buy cool things and STILL build something for your future.

Think of it like this: if your money was a little robot, would you want it just sitting around? Or would you want it out there, working for you - even while you sleep?

You'll learn how to take small bits of your pocket money and turn it into more money, invest in things you already love (like brands and creators), and how to avoid the kind of dumb money mistakes most adults wish they could undo.

Take it from me: building something for your future is cool, and learning about it today is just the start. Talk to you soon!

In this session, we'll explore real, flexible pathways to tertiary study, including:

- getting into uni without Year 12
- creative ways to meet prerequisites
- alternatives that skip school entirely
- strategies for early entry, free subjects, and saving time and money
- helping your teen follow their passions (and decide if uni is even the right step)
